DON'T FORGET ALL ROOTERS OUT TO-NIGHT

Practice At the Hall 5.10 Sharp.

MANY NOVELTIES.

"Teedles" Thompson's Troops With Band Will Aid the Rugby Team.

Rooters are settling down to regular practices in preparation for the coming Intercollegiate Rugby games, which will be played at the Memorial Stadium within the next month. The second turn-out of the Club has been called for this evening at 5.30 o'clock, at Strathcona Hall, when the squad will put in a final hour's work to complete its programme for the Thanksgiving Day match, when the senior team takes the field against the M. A. A. aggregation. A special section of the grandstand has been set aside for the Rooters, from which vantage point they will give their yells and songs, cheer the Red and White to victory, and incidentally stage a few stunts for the entertainment of the spectators. Their main tricks, however, will be held back until the big Intercollegiate tussles with Queen's on October 30, and 'Varsity on November 7. On these dates "Teedles" Thompson, who is in charge of the "troops," promises a mighty lively afternoon's proceedings. Novelty galore will feature the work of the Rooters this season. Besides the time-honored feature, the big "M," the songs and yells, there will be many new attractions introduced, the nature of which are being kept in the dark until the big days. One item which can be mentioned is the fact that this year it is expected that here will be one of the "jazziest" bands that has ever given its support to the Rooters at McGill. At the opening practice last Tuesday fourteen bandmen turned out, while there were several others who were expected, but who ran foul of the Sophomore entertainment, and had to be excused for the first time up. However, it is anticipated that twenty-five

MCGILL WON EASY MATCH FROM AGGIES

Juniors Gain Their Second Game Of the Season.

PLAY WAS FAST.

Gained Advantage Early In the Game and Held It to the Last.

McGill Juniors made it two straight yesterday afternoon when they plied through the Macdonald Aggies at the Ste. Anne's grounds for a score of 15 to 0 in a game which proved a snappy exhibition of Rugby and which demonstrated that this season the Red and White third squad has most of the essentials necessary for a championship aggregation. Throughout the match Shag's prospects controlled the situation, scoring in the first quarter and adding points in each of the remaining three periods. Macdonald steadied down in the second quarter, and for the remainder of the tussle put up a game fight, but were unable to cope with the spirited attack of the Red and White squad.

Williamson, Pierce, Puddicombe, Emo and Eddie Crain played snappy Rugby for the McGill squad, while Chauvin, Richardson and McLellan outshone the Macdonald team in all departments of the game, but the powerful line plunging of the Red and White men was the feature of the struggle.

With two wins to their credit, the Juniors have now an excellent chance of coping the titular honors in the league, having defeated both Loyola and Macdonald away from home, and with only two more games to play with the same teams on McGill grounds.

McGill lost the toss and started with the sun and wind adverse, but despite these obstacles Williamson

SENIOR SQUAD PUT THROUGH STIFF WORKOUT

Players Getting In Shape For M.A.A.A. Game.

LINE-UP SHIFTED.

Great Battle Expected When Local Teams Come Together.

Settling down to regular training stunts, after their rest following the Queen's game last Saturday, the McGill Senior Rugby squad put in a strenuous afternoon yesterday under the eye of Coach Shaughnessy. Shag had the players of both the first and second teams indulging in the usual signal practices, following which the squads were drilled in passing, and for a considerable period the players tore up and down the stadium engaging in snappy passing bouts. Before the end of the week it is anticipated that the squad will be in perfect condition for the match with the M.A.A.A. on Thanksgiving Day. Friday being a holiday, the teams will practise in the morning.

The M.A.A.A. fixture has become an annual affair and this year promises to be a big attraction both to the students at the university and to the large following of the Winged Wheelers, who will be out in force to root for their squad. McGill rooters are organizing under "Teedles" Thompson, and will be present at the game to help along in the good work and do their part to bring victory to the Red and White.

Several shifts were made in the line-up yesterday afternoon. Andy Rutherford worked out in place of "Boo" Anderson, who was moved up

ROOTERS' BAND.

Everything is in readiness for the first real practice of the McGill band which is to work in conjunction with the Rooters' Club of the University at the coming football classics between the Red and White team, and the representative squads from Queens and Varsity respectively. This afternoon the band will turn out for its initial practice at Strathcona Hall at 5.10 o'clock, and it is expected that besides the fourteen players who were out at the first work-out on Tuesday there will be at least as many more again this evening. There is room for every musician in the college who can play a wind instrument to make a place on the organization according to "Chub" Lebaron, who will lead this most necessary aggregation. As the time is short for practices, the first intercollegiate game at McGill is scheduled for October 30, intending players are asked to start in at the practices from this afternoon.

SMOKING ROOM DISCUSSED BY UNDERGRADS.

Arts Men Held First Meeting Of Season.

MANY PRESENT.

Resolution To Be Presented To Authorities Concerning Smoking Room.

An unusually large number turned out to the first meeting of the Arts Undergraduate Society, which was held in the Arts Building at noon yesterday. The action of suspending lectures for the occasion appears to have a very stimulating effect on the attendance, and it is to be hoped that the plan will be adhered to in the future.

J. C. Farthing, the new president of the Arts Undergrad., took the chair. The first business of the meeting was the discussion of a motion pertaining to the present lack of a smoking-room in the Arts Building. A certain amount of indignation has been expressed of late regarding the sudden abolition of this most ordinary of privileges, and it is hoped that the firm yet dignified wording of the resolution unanimously adopted at yesterday's meeting will not be without effect. It was decided to send one copy of the resolution to the Principal and another to the Corporation. The resolution was worded as follows:

Resolved, that we, the members of the Arts Undergraduate Society, in mass meeting assembled, do place on record our astonishment at the recent curtailment of our accommodation in the Arts Building, and in as far as we are privileged to do so, do protest against the utter disregard with which convenience of the students of the Arts Faculty was treated in the making of the alterations in the Arts Building during the past summer.

"We would record our belief that the giving over of a large part of the Arts Building to new and comparatively small departments is most unfortunate and cannot fail to do grave injury to the Arts Faculty in efficiency, general spirit and probably

LAVAL PAID MCGILL VISIT THIS MORNING

French Students Received Enthusiastic Welcome.

SPEECHES MADE.

Expressions Of Good-Feeling Between Local Universities.

A most unexpected, but none the less welcome visit was paid by the students of the University of Montreal to the students of McGill this morning.

Some three hundred Laval boys, wearing the black velvet student-cap, with red ribbon, and canes, and led by M. Louis H. Garlepy, president of the Medical Undergraduate Society, paraded in good order to the tune of the old-time college songs, through the college grounds.

Their songs, cheers and general noise brought out several hundred students from the surrounding buildings, and by the time a halt was called by the paraders, in front of the Arts Building—the main entrance to that historic abode—the immediate neighborhood was thronged with the intermingled students.

Arts signalled their welcome by the McGill yell, which was followed with short speeches by the Laval leaders. Replying on behalf of the McGill students, Mr. H. Robertson expressed the hope and desire of a furtherance of the amicable spirit which has marked the past relationship of the two universities.

Mr. Garlepy then extended to the McGill student body a hearty invitation to join them that afternoon in a river excursion to St. Helen's Island. The combined singing of "God Save the King" and "O Canada" brought things to a close. The Laval students then left in the highest spirits, but with a discipline which was indeed commendable.

THE ENTENTE CORDIALE

The students of the newly-created Université de Montréal gave another example yesterday to their fellow-students of McGill of the "Entente Cordiale" which has existed between the two great universities of this city for the past two decades. Ever since the eventful year of 1900 when the spirit of animosity animating the two educational centres was brought to a close by a series of pitched battles, a feeling of good-will and mutual esteem has become more and more manifest.

The great financial loss sustained by Laval at the burning of their main building last year was speedily repaired by the generosity of the citizens of Montreal. In a few weeks time McGill will make a no less urgent appeal to the same public, which behaved in such an open-handed manner to our sister-university. The recent demonstration augurs well for the success of our campaign as far as the French-speaking people of the metropolis are concerned. McGill has never lacked support from the philanthropists of the English-speaking section, but to make our forthcoming appeal truly successful we must have the support of all sections of the body-politic irrespective of race or creed. The University of Montreal will, we feel sure, do their utmost to help us in the attainment of this goal.

got away for a long end run which brought the pigskin down to Mac's line, where Puddicombe gathered it in and made the first try, which Whittall failed to convert. Quarter ended—McGill, 5; Macdonald, 0.

Early in the second quarter Emo added another touch, which Whittall had little difficulty in converting. Macdonald settled down to hard work and forced the play to the Red and White line, but the whistle blew for half time before any damage was done. Quarter ended—McGill, 11; Macdonald, 0.

McGill came back strong in the third quarter, and early secured three points on rouges and kicks to the dead line. This quarter was the fastest of the game, and produced some excellent running, tackling and passing bouts, ending in a kicking contest at which the Macdonald squad was easily out-distanced. The quarter ended—McGill, 14; Macdonald, 0.

Both teams played real Rugby in the last period, and the play kept pretty well to centre field until near the end, when the Red and White again forced the Aggies to the defensive. One point was scored on a rouge. The game ended with the score, Williamson having kicked the pigskin to the dead-line.

NOTICES

CHESS CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Chess Club which was to have been held Tuesday evening was as announced in yesterday's "Daily" postponed until to-night as sufficient members did not appear to form a quorum. This was probably on account of the Rush and as there is a holiday to-morrow, and we have heard no rumors of a similar event to-night, a good attendance is expected.

We must have a big turnout to make our City League team a success, so come on all you men who gave us your support last year and make the meeting a success.

The meeting will be held at the Union at 7.45 p.m. to-night.

LIBRARY.

The library will be closed all day to-morrow on account of the University Sports.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATION.

In addition to the period between 12 noon and 12.30 to-day, there will be a period between 6 p.m. and 7 p.m., also this evening.

Dr. Thomson is a consulting engineer of international reputation, and is paying a special visit to Montreal to give this lecture. It will deal largely with deep foundation and caisson work—a most fascinating and difficult branch of engineering.

All students who are interested are invited to attend. The principles of engineering can be taught in the class room; the application of them is learned only through experience, and this is an opportunity for learning of experience.

INTER FACULTY RUGBY STARTED

Schedule Drawn Up—Old Campus To Be Used For Games.

The executive of the Rugby Football Club at a meeting yesterday afternoon, drew up a schedule for inter-faculty games, which, it is hoped, will meet with the approval of all. Owing to the lateness of the season, it was considered impracticable to hold inter-class Rugby this year. By confining the matches to faculties alone, more interest will be shown in the games and better teams can be selected than if inter-class football were attempted.

If Arts, Law and Commerce put up a single team among them, a more equal footing will be secured. Science and Medicine will each put up a team.

The games are to be played on the old campus, and special efforts will be made to provide new goal posts.

It is regrettable that the starting of the series has been so long delayed, but it is hoped that all men interested in Rugby will turn out and work for the honor of their faculty. To speed up organization, it would be well for each team to elect a captain at their first workout. If this is done, the practices and executive work will be more efficiently looked after.

Players are reminded that they must be medically examined before taking any part in either practices or games.

The following is the schedule as drawn up by the executive:

Wed., Oct. 20—Science vs. Meds.
Sat., Oct. 23—A., C., L. vs. Science.
Wed., Oct. 27—Meds vs. A., C., L.
Sat., Oct. 30—Science vs. Meds.
Wed., Nov. 3—A., C., L. vs. Science.
Sat., Nov. 6—Meds vs. A., C., L.

The business will be the launching of the years' programme and the preparation of the "Block Survey," "The News Boy's School," etc., etc.

Members please note this and come. All University students are invited, both men and women. We can provide you with a sideline for the year. Be a Daniel and come and see us.

AMERICAN CLUB.

The American students at McGill will get together in the Common Room of the Union, to-night, at 8 o'clock, to elect officers and make plans for the ensuing year. We want all you fellows to get out and bring along your ideas of what should be done. We can tell you what has been done in years past, but we want you to plan with us as to what will be done this year.

THANKSGIVING DINNER.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the McGill Y.M.C.A. are serving a free dinner for out-of-town students on Monday evening, Oct. 18th, in Strathcona Hall. All who desire to be present should sign their names at once on sheet posted on the bulletin boards at Strathcona Hall, or report at the office before Saturday.

DENTAL SOCIETY.

RECORDS WILL BE BROKEN IN FIELD SPORTS

Crack Men To Tussel For Place on University Team.

MANY ENTRIES.

Promises To Be Record Year—Men Constantly Trained For Track.

The biggest sporting event to be held at the college so far this season will be seen at the stadium to-morrow afternoon, when all the crack athletes of the college will compete in the University sports. There will be sixty odd men competing in the games and all of them are athletes who have already made good showings in other meets.

There has never been a year that can compare with the present for the enthusiasm shown in track and field athletics at the college. The work who have been turning out have worked steadily under the watchful eye of an expert coach and, as a result, they are all in the best of shape for a strenuous meet. They all know that their showing to-morrow will determine whether or not they will travel to Toronto next week to take part in the intercollegiate games and all of them are on edge for the contest.

The work on the track has been supplemented by little talks to the men at the training table and these have proved to be of great assistance to the men in regulating their work in order not to overdo themselves and yet be in condition to show what they can do. There is not a man who will be competing to-morrow who can bring up the excuse of lack of training to account for defeat as all of them have had the same chance.

An interesting contest is expected in the broad jump when Antliff, Kennedy, Wells and Farthing get into action in the broad jump. All of these men have made jumps at one time or another that make the college record look small and when they get going at their best the record should go. In the running high jump Kennedy will make a try at breaking his own record, as he will necessarily have to do if he hopes to win the event in face of competition from Antliff and Foss, both of whom have made very creditable performances in the past.

The event with the most imposing array of entries is the quarter mile. At first glance it would appear as if the race would develop into a contest between King and Hay, as both of these men made excellent showings in the intercollegiate games last year. On closer inspection, however, it will be noticed that the list of entries includes several men who cannot be overlooked. Johnson has decided to try out the longer distance and, if his speed is anything like that in the sprints, he will not be far from the front when the finish line is crossed. Wells, Frederick, Goren, Stephens and Livingstone are all men who have taken places in the event at former meets and they do not intend to be among the "also rans" to-morrow.

Judging by past performances, Johnson should have the edge in the sprints, but he will have to travel at his fastest in face of opposition from such men as Forrest, MacLaren and Valterpool, while Hay looms big in the list of entries for the 220 yard event. Stephen, Hamilton, King and Frederick are the entries in the half mile that look the most promising, while Hamilton, Legg and Creelman are the big entries for the mile.

Bill Antliff will not participate in

MACCABEANS TO HOLD A SMOKER

Fine Programme Has Been Arranged—Plenty Of Refreshments.

In line with all the other organizations at the university, the Macabean Circle is making arrangements for the resumption of its activities on a larger and more comprehensive scale than ever before in its fifteen years' existence.

To those students who have been at the university before, the Circle hardly needs any introduction. Those who have attended its meetings in the past will recall the many interesting hours spent in the discussion of subject appertaining to the history and literature of the Jewish people.

For the information of newcomers to the university, the Macabean Circle of McGill may be briefly described as a part of the Intercollegiate Menorah Association, with branches at the leading universities of America, aiming at the advancement of Hebrew culture in the unbiased spirit of the disinterested scholar. It is by nature and constitution a non-sectarian organization, and its membership is open to all undergraduates who are interested in this work.

The opening function of the season will be in the form of a smoker, on Wednesday evening, October 20th, at 8 o'clock, in the Fraternal Chambers, 1 Hutchison Street. An excellent programme, comprising music and an address by a prominent speaker, as well as plenty of smokes and refreshments, ensures an enjoyable and interesting evening to all those who will take advantage of this invitation.

any track event but the three miles, and should lead the way although his old rival Hamilton is entered, as well as such men as Legg and Creelman. Farthing, Gnaedinger and Jeff Russell should step over the hurdles in fast time and, while it will be difficult to break the college record, it is very likely that the intercollegiate record will be bettered.

The showing to be made in the weights is problematic and cannot be forecasted. McLellan is expected to town for the meet and will enter in the hammer event, if he arrives. Owing to the fact that his course does not begin until the 18th of October, he has not yet been out on the field but he has been training at his home and should be able to hold his own. Dickie and Gaborau are both showing up well in the discus throw and, if they do as well in competition, they may help out considerably in the weights division.

Jeff Notman will put the shot. Last year he was on the intercollegiate team and made a very creditable showing. He has not trained much this year and nothing can be expected of him until he is seen in action. Don Foss will be seen in a couple of the weight events and he, in company with Kennedy, should catch places in at least two or three.

The student body is showing a great deal of interest in the games and a very large crowd is expected at the stadium to-morrow. The price of admission to the games is uniform for all seats; thirty-five cents will be charged, the tax being included in the fee. It is expected that the Rooters' Club will be given its first opportunity to work out in public during the progress of the games and much is expected from them.

As the showing in the meet to-morrow will determine what men are to travel to Toronto, the games will be watched with interest by the sportsmen who are figuring out who will carry off the intercollegiate honors. No one is certain of the result

NAVY LEAGUE TO HOLD CAMPAIGN

Plans To Secure $760,000 During Week Oct. 18-23.

One hundred dollars per month for a widow with four children, or $20 per month for each member of the family, is the aim of the Navy League of Canada in pensioning the widows and orphans of Canadian mercantile sailors who lost their lives on active service during the war. The League during "Trafalgar" Sailors' Week, October 16 to 23, propose to raise $760,000 for the work in general, of which $144,000 will be used as an endowment for pensions. The income from this endowment along with funds already in hand will be sufficient to meet the national situation.

The Navy League of Canada in appealing to the public for funds feels that no widow should go hungry or any child go through life without a proper education because the father paid the supreme sacrifice on active service. Many of the men on the merchant ships carried food, munitions, troops and general supplies, were torpedoed at sea and went down as British seamen always have done, standing aside, "Women and Children First."

The plan as decided upon by the executive is to grant a pension to each widow and family according to requirements, and carry on the relief work already commenced upon a larger and permanent scale. Each child who lost his or her daddy during the war will be granted a pension adequate to cover necessary expenses for a good education, and therefore

SI WHIFFLETREE TO COVER GAME

His Football Degree Enables Him To Report Matches With Facility.

Deep emotion was aroused in the breasts of McGill students when it was bruited about that Si Whiffletree, the well-known and justly famous Law student, had been retained by the student body to cover the season's football games. The medium of Mr. Whiffletree's articles will be the official football programme, which will this year contain many interesting features.

Although it is not generally known, Mr. Whiffletree is a graduate of the Ypsilanti Correspondence School of Football (in 12 easy lessons), and if anybody asks him, can produce a highly embossed graduation diploma. More power to his elbow!

the country at large, through the medium of the Navy League of Canada will be fathering all these children, giving them home, education, until they are able to support themselves, and a proper start in life.

Through this endowment, the mother will be able to remain at home, take care of her children, and make a home what it ought to be. The League considers that every woman with children should be at home, sufficiently supported with finances, so that she can bring her children up properly, and not be forced to leave them alone all day to play on the streets while she works, taking the place of both father and mother.

Correspondence

The "Daily" is not responsible for the sentiments of letters published in the correspondence columns. Signed communications from graduates, undergraduates and members of the faculties will be placed in print if they are not of too great length.

Correspondents are requested to observe the unwritten law of the newspaper office — that they write upon ONE side of the paper ONLY. No communications will be admitted in this column without the name of the writer being attached, not necessarily for PUBLICATION.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily":

Dear Sir,—

On behalf of the parties interested in the coming meeting at golf between the professors and students, I object to the remarks contained in the letter in yesterday's issue over the pseudonym of "Last Year's Performer."

If this gentleman wishes to pursue the matter any further, he must substantiate his insinuations. Let him furnish full particulars as to his charges in a sealed envelope and leave it with the Editor of the "Daily," clearly marked "Reference Golf Tournament."

In conclusion, I might state that there is no question that the players were chosen strictly in accordance with the handicaps they submitted, and that there are many reliable and unbiased witnesses to this effect.

This method of answering his letter rather than signing a name in full is merely to avoid any personal animosities that might arise for which "Last Year's Performer" might later be sorry. "X."

To the Editor, "McGill Daily":

Dear Sir,—

When the discussion between the members of the "Daily" staff and myself lapsed into a mere personal attack through the editorial column, I decided it was high time to withdraw. The letter signed "Watcher," however, which appeared in to-day's issue of the paper, impels me to make a further statement. I cannot allow "Watcher's" cool assumption that I am connected with the editorial staff of the "Daily" to pass unchallenged, although I can see he is far from being a bona fide correspondent.

I wish to make it plain that I am not at present a member of the "McGill Daily" staff, and have no intention of becoming so in the future. If "Watcher" is sincere in his remarks about the need for a definite editorial policy, I quite agree with him, and should like to see the theme further developed. For my own part, the personal animosity evoked by my last effort at criticism was of such a nature as to create in me a certain hesitation about re-opening the question. Yours truly,

"SPARTACUS."

To the Editor, "McGill Daily":

Dear Sir,—

May I be permitted to utter a few words in regard to the farago of nonsense contained in the letter from "Watcher"? His remarks on imperialism and "enlarging the truly national spirit," would lead one to believe that we have to deal with one of those half-baked politicians who infest public meetings in this unlucky city, and not a sensible student of McGill.

What on earth has the college paper to do with "developing Canada's national existence" (using "Watcher's" phraseology)? In what way does "McGill Daily" reach and affect the millions of people now inhabiting the country? Are they going to change their ways of thinking or living in response to a few of its editorials?

If "Watcher's" is an "attempt at national expression," it ought, I should think, to be "stuffed" promptly; he sounds like a disappointed Stan Feiner. Next time he undertakes to express the nation, he might make sure it is behind him.

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am,

"MEDICO."

To the Editor, "McGill Daily":

Dear Sir,—

Without wishing to be classed with those whose heated pens apparently exist only for the condemnation of our "Daily," allow me to offer a word of suggestion. In to-day's issue of your paper appeared two letters, one by "Vox Populi," the other by "Watcher." Both these epistles were critical, sarcastically — almost malignantly so. One writer named "Mr. Kavanagh" as the object (or subject) of his diatribe; the other the McGill Y.M.C.A. — Both signed a pseudonym. If correspondents choose to be personal in their critical remarks, surely they should have the good grace to sign their own names. Is the "Daily" to print criticisms in which the criticised is named and the critic signs a nom de plume?

Thanking you, Mr. Editor

Yours, etc.,
C. PETER MacLEAN,
Med. '28.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily":

Dear Sir,—

In view of two letters in yesterday's correspondence, I should like to give the writers a hint or so.

We see first, a letter from "Last Year's Performer," who, as the name shows, is evidently not a Freshie, and so has no excuse for his public expression of petty jealousy and babyishness. For the love of any gods you know, "L.Y.P." try and be a gentleman and sportsman.

In the middle of the column we see an attempt at a sarcastic attack upon Mr. Kavanagh, signed with the self-assured signature of "Vox Populi." As I greatly doubt if the majority of the people agree with the voice and the words it speaks, I would suggest that unless our friend is sure he is the "Voice of the People," that it would be more tactful to sign some other nom de plume. Yours truly,

ONE OF THE PEOPLE.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily":

Dear Sir,—

In the issue of October 11 there appeared a letter by Mr. Kavanagh supporting the theory, and showing he carried it into practice, of giving our senior teams an encouraging send-off when they leave Old McGill to play on a "foreign" field.

It is under circumstances such as this that our football teams need all the encouragement that can be given them, and why do they not get it? They deserve it, and it surely should not be asking too much of the students to join the Rooters' Club and give our teams the send-off they deserve, and send them off to assured victory with M-C-G ringing in their ears.

Let us go one step better. Why not welcome them back? If they win, then there is cause for rejoicing, and if the impossible should happen, and that they should lose, then, indeed, they will need to be encouraged to further efforts, and shown that we have not, and never will, lose faith in them.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for your valuable space, I remain,

ROOTER.

To the Editor, "McGill Daily":

Dear Sir,—

In yesterday's issue of the "Daily" I saw a letter by a gentleman signing himself "Watcher." It was with the greatest pleasure that I read a letter which expresses so tactfully, what is, I believe, the general opinion of the student body.

In thorough agreement.

I remain, Sir, Yours truly,
"FOR A POLICY."

to the quarter position. "Bones" Little worked at left outside, while Leo Timmins, fully recovered from last Saturday's tussle, was at his old position at centre scrimmage.

There is every possibility that Leizer and Gamble will be given a chance to show their Rugby prowess on Monday against the M.A.A.A., as several of the senior squad are not in any too good shape, and may not last out the game. Flanagan is still a little sore from the game with the Freshies, while Ambridge and Cope have not been jumping around this week with their usual "pop." In any case, it is expected that the McGill squad will give the city team a great battle, especially when it is considered that the M.A.A.A. squad backs up against Ottawa next Saturday.

SWIMMERS TO PRACTICE FOR BIG FIXTURES

Trials Bring Out Much Good Material.

WILL ENTER TEAMS.

McGill Will Play Against Varsity For Intercollegiate Cup.

The first regular practice of the Swimming Club will be held this afternoon. Last week's trials brought out much good material and it is hoped to make the ensuing year a successful one. Last year the support given the club was not what it should have been, but we hope it will be otherwise this year.

A team is to be entered both in the Senior and the Intermediate divisions of the C.A.P.A. The entrance of Geo. Vernot, of the Canadian Olympic team, and of other good men from the High Schools is a great deal in McGill's favor. These men, together with last year's team, should enable us to have two strong aggregations.

The Intercollegiate swimming meet will be held at Toronto this year. Last year Varsity secured the highest number of points by winning the relay race, and received the cup. This year, as McGill has not got the use of the Y.M.C.A., the Swimming Club had to be limited to twenty-five members, who will have the use of the Y.M.C.A. tank on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, from 5.30 to 6.30 o'clock.

Men on the team who do not turn out regularly will be replaced by more punctual men.

The following is the list of the men picked from those who attended the elimination trials:

R. W. Bastable, M. Brucker, G. F. Binns, R. W. Wade, N. Owens, G. H. Fiske, Geo. Vernot, L. Walters, L. Winters, W. H. Laidley, R. H. Patten, P. Scott, Roy Foss, W. D. Munro, H. G. Ross, W. K. Rutherford, C. Rorke, H. C. Alward, J. B. Ross, Douglas, J. B. Rutherford, L. Parsons, W. Laidley, Scovell, McKindsey, Brisbane, E. W. Mellen, W. E. Carter.

These men must turn out this afternoon at 5.30 at the Y.M.C.A.

In all future vessels for the Canadian Government merchant marine, Douglas fir will replace the Southern pine heretofore used in the laying of decks.

ENGLISH RUGBY WELL SUPPORTED

Over Forty-Five Out For Practice Yesterday.

Taking the field garbed in a kaleidoscopic array of rugged togs, but showing a spirit that was far superior to the impression conveyed by the ragtime dress of the players, more than forty-five English rugby enthusiasts turned out on the Old Campus yesterday afternoon for the regular practice of the McGill club, which is fast rounding into an aggregation that promises to be one of the most progressive among the organizations in minor sports around McGill.

For over two hours the players were put through a hard game under the direction of Captain W. N. Kemp and Mr. MacKay, of Strathcona Hall, who has taken charge of the forwards. The work-out was the most successful so far held by the team and augurs well for the future of the club.

Friday morning teams representing the West and All Others will play at old campus in an exhibition game preparatory to meeting the Montreal team on Thanksgiving morning. So far the Montreal squad is the only prospect the ruggers have for outside games, so that the executive of the ruggers has decided to form a league consisting of three teams, Westerners, Easterners and Old Country, which will be pitted in a league series for the College championship.

RIFLE PRACTICE WILL BE HELD

Trip To Pointe aux Trembles Monday.

Arrangements have been made for a party of McGill Cont. C.O.T.C. to proceed to the Rifle Ranges at Pointe aux Trembles on Monday next, 18th October, and fire range practices 1 and 2, C.O.T.C. Regulations.

This party, for whom a special street car has been engaged to convey it to and from the Ranges, will meet on Fletcher's Field at the corner of Park and Pine Avenue, at 9.30 a.m., and it will be necessary for the members of the party to provide themselves with a pocket lunch, wear old clothes, and be on time at the place of meeting.

The Adjutant would be glad if the undernamed will meet him at the Orderly Room at 9 a.m. on the day appointed to assist him in conveying the rifles and ammunition to the car.

COLLEGE OF SURGEONS IN FULL SWING

Two Further Sessions Yesterday.

GOOD PAPERS READ.

Doctors Garrow and Archibald Of the McGill Staff Spoke.

The third day of the Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons was spent in a busy and profitable manner. In the morning, clinics were held at all the local hospitals, with Montreal surgeons doing the greater part of the work.

In the afternoon, a general symposium on "Differential Diagnosis of Lesions of the Right Side of the Abdomen" was held in Windsor Hall.

Geo. W. Crile, M.D., of Cleveland, opened the programme with a general introduction. He expressed the opinion that perhaps the most difficult and most important thing was the drawing from the patient the history of the case. The full development of diagnosis has not nearly been reached as yet, and investigation of the functions of the organs was especially important.

Sir Berkeley Moynihan then spoke on "Duodenal Ulcer" as producing lesions of the right side of the abdomen, in a masterly and authoritative manner. The diagnosis, he thought, rested on the history of the case. There was a type history for all ulcers, with variations for those in particular situations. Regularity and definiteness of symptoms are characteristic; if at all irregular, then chronic ulcer is eliminated. Pain is important; generally the earlier its onset after the taking of food, the nearer the ulcer is to the cardiac end of the stomach. Ulcers of the stomach and of the duodenum have a characteristic rhythm. Radiography is a great help in diagnosis. Thirty per cent. of the cases give occult blood.

Perforation of the ulcer is not a symptom, but is a reflection on the capability of the profession. Yet it happens, and then one gets an instantaneous agony and unbearable anguish, with the abdominal muscles rigid. Early perforation never shows any of the conditions of shock, and must be operated on at once. It is distinguished from a colic by the great restlessness observed in the latter.

John D. B. Deaver, M.D., of Philadelphia, then discussed "Intussusception." He advocated the use of the stethoscope on the abdomen to make out the condition of the bowel. He was followed by Dr. A. Primrose, of Toronto, who spoke on "Appendicitis." He took up the great difficulty, and often impossibility, of diagnosis in atypical cases. The bases of the diagnosis rested upon the nerve supply to the appendix and its associated areas.

Dr. A. B. Kanavel, Chicago, delivered a paper on the "Pancreas" in relation to the region in question. The general picture of acute and chronic pancreatitis was: acute fulminating pain, tenderness, nausea and vomiting, and involuntary rigidity. The pain was not so sudden as in perforating ulcer, but lasted longer. Sometimes there was oedema of the abdominal wall. A constant increased pulse was characteristic.

Dr. A. E. Garrow, of Montreal, followed with a paper on the "Gall-bladder and Bile Passages." He took up the importance of the history and chemical bacteriological and pathological evidence. Several cases were cited in detail.

E. W. Archibald, of Montreal, then discussed Colonic Tuberculosis. Three forms existed: a stricture form, a slow-growing form resembling cancer and an ulcerated form, which was rarely independent of pulmonary tuberculosis. The clinical history and physical findings were especially important, and the X-rays were often the deciding factor.

Following this, Dr. B. P. Watson, of Toronto, took up the gynecological conditions that might cause a lesion of the right side of the abdomen. Dr. R. C. Coffey, of Portland, Oregon, concluded the afternoon's programme with a paper on non-organic conditions affecting the region in question.

The evening session was opened by an extremely interesting paper by Dr. Clarence L. Starr, of Toronto, on "Reconstruction Surgery and Its Application to Civilian Practice." Dr. Starr is eminently fitted to deal with such a subject, having been during the war a consulting surgeon to the Canadian Government. He first dwelt upon the treatment of bones which had been shattered by shell or bullet wound, in which portions of bone had been lost. Many of these cases were treated successfully by inlay grafts, these being the most readily invested subsequently by osteoblasts, the bone forming cells. He then explained that it was most important that the surgeon should place the limb in the most useful position so that in cases where joints were affected, ankylosis would not result in a useless limb to the patient.

Taking as an example the elbow joint, he said that the forearm should be flexed and pronated. The amount of flexion should be different in each arm, that for the right being 110 degrees and the left 75 degrees. In conclusion, the speaker explained in detail a method which he himself has originated and perfected for the purpose of bringing about fixation of the humerus to the scapula with the least possible limitation of normal movement of the whole arm.

The subject was then taken up by Dr. Joel E. Goldthwait, of Boston, who pointed out that from the point of view of the patient—that is, in securing a most useful limb—it does not depend so much upon the skill in the operation as upon skill in post-operative treatment. Turning to war and post-war problems, he said that the governments of the various nations affected were asking their surgeons but one question, and that was: "What can your men do when you discharge them from the hospital?" This is the vital question, for inability of the soldier to take up his old work means responsibility and expense to the government without even considering it from the point of view of the soldier. He concluded by urging his fellow-surgeons to strive not for anatomical but for increased functional results.

Mr. A. Carless, the famous British surgeon and consultant to the British army, was then introduced, and received a great ovation. He spoke on the treatment of frail limbs. The causes may be classified under three headings: actual injury at the time of accident; undue energy with which fragments have been removed; and non-recognition of marvellous accommodative shortening which may take place. He then told of cases in which massive portions of the humerus had been forcibly torn away, leaving gaps varying from one to four inches. Previous to the war, such conditions were classed as incurable. At the present time, however, the ends are placed in apposition, bony union taking place. After accommodative shortening of the surrounding muscles and structures, a perfectly useful arm is obtained. The arm is short, of course, but from the point of view of function, absolutely perfect. This is, of course, only true where the joints are not affected.

The concluding papers dwelt with the treatment of cancer of the uterus, opposing views being given by Drs. W. P. Graves, of Boston, and W. S. Stone, of New York. The former was of the opinion that radical operation gives the better results, while Dr. Stone advocated treatment by radium and its emanations.

future attendance, particularly at a time when the value of an Arts Course is being emphasized, when the Arts Faculty is being strengthened and when the number of Arts students is greatly increasing.

"We would further record our surprise at the inconsistency with which, in the present overcrowded condition of the building, the health and physical efficiency of the students have been jeopardized in the name of Physical Education."

"While we realize that little can now be done to relieve the congestion in the overcrowded building, we would respectfully appeal to the Building Committee to provide in the cellar a room which can at least be used for smoking."

The next business of the meeting was the election of two new members to the Reading Room Committee. P. H. Addy and H. B. MacMahon were elected from the Junior and Sophomore years respectively. The president next called upon two of the nominees for the Union House committee, Messrs Copeland and Cock-shutt, to address the meeting with reference to their election platforms. The meeting was then adjourned.

MUCH GOOD MATERIAL IN TOURNAMENT

Good Tennis Is Displayed In First Round.

20 CLASS "A" MEN.

Further Matches To Be Played and Team Will Soon Be Chosen.

The first round of the tennis tournament has now been entirely completed. There were only three games taken by default out of forty-five entries, which shows that the majority were really keen to get their matches played. The number of members left in the tournament is twenty-eight, so there will be many games to be played still.

The rating of the men in Class A is posted at the club house, so that men wishing to find out their standing may do so by looking at the list. The number on the rating list has now grown to twenty, so material is not lacking from which to pick the best six men. The executive does not wish to discourage any men on the ladder from trying for places, but would like to suggest that they be very careful before they pick out men above them to challenge. In some cases men near the top of the ladder have had to play so many challenge games that they have not had time to practise with the first four men. It is a difficult matter to please all in the matter of these challenge matches, but all members may be sure that they will receive a square deal when it comes to the final sizing up of the squad. It is very likely that the first four men on the ladder will be amongst those on the team, which will be admitted by any who have seen them play. These men are C. Ramsey, Crocker, Bernard and Wright.

MISS HAMILTON SPOKE AT R.V.

Explained Work Of Student Christian Movement.

A meeting of the Y.W.C.A. was held in the Common Room on Wednesday afternoon. Miss E. Barnes, president, opened the meeting and introduced the speaker, Miss Hamilton. Miss Hamilton explained the work and aims of the Student Christian Movement by illustrating what it has accomplished already in other countries. This Student Christian Movement is a question which is very much in evidence at the present time, as the Student Y.W.C.A. is virtually out of existence. Miss Hamilton emphasized the fact that it was not so much the machinery of the movement as the spirit of it which counted. It was moved and seconded that the members of the Interim Committee—Miss Spier, Dr. Gifford and Dr. Symonds—be ratified. A letter of resignation from the president of the Y.W.C.A. was read. After some consideration, however, the president, Miss Barnes, consented to remain until the new organization came into being.

INITIAL BIBLE STUDY PERIOD

The Absence Of Capt. Trivett Deeply Regretted.

Owing to indisposition, Rev. A. S. C. Trivett was unable to address the first open meeting of the Student Volunteers last night. This was much regretted, as Mr. Trivett is a most interesting speaker, and has taken a very active part in social service work in Montreal, notably in the Dominion Square Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Trivett served at the front as a Captain, and expects to sail for China in November, where he will take up missionary work. It is hoped, however, that the Student Volunteers will have an opportunity of hearing Mr. Trivett before he leaves for the Orient.

Instead of the address, the members held their Initial Bible Study class. The classes this year will use Shuman's "Jesus in the Records," Ranschenbusch's "Social Principles of Jesus" and Fosdick's "Manhood of the Master," under the leadership of Prof. Graham, Mr. MacKay, Mr. R. deWitt Scott, Mr. John Bradford and Prof. Reley.
